

AUSINDUTRY PRESS RELEASE – CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT FOR INNOVATION 2003.

Four hundred guests attended a major AusIndustry event held to recognise the Commonwealth Government's commitment to innovation, and the achievements of regional companies in building their future growth on research, development and innovation.

The AusIndustry "Celebration of Innovation" function was held on Wednesday 19th February in the National Trust classified Spotswood Pumping Station, at Scienceworks Museum in Melbourne.

Six Certificates of Achievement were awarded to recipients from diverse industrial backgrounds.

Textile company, I.N.C. Corporation, was among the award recipients in recognition of their development of 3-dimensional nonwoven textiles for acoustic and thermal insulation, filtration media, thermo-formable substrates and upholstery.

Managing Director of I.N.C., Michael Coates, is pictured accepting the award from The Federal Minister for Tourism and Resources, the Hon Ian Macfarlane.

Confirming that innovation leads success, I.N.C. has undergone some 400% growth during 2003, through a combination of organic growth and acquisition. I.N.C. recently announced the acquisition of Insulform, a leading supplier of automotive insulation, parcel trays and boot trim.
